The structure, which way will be forty-five feet in width. is to cover a large frontage on both streets, is to be eight stories high. The name of the building will be the Stoneleigh. A part of the foundation will rest on piling, which will be of a character never before used in the District.

Instead of using piling of wood, concrete piles will be substituted. The latter material is employed in an ingenious way. A casing is made of iron or some other suitable material, having the cone shape of the wooden pile. This casing is forced into the ground in much the same manner as a wooden pile, and then the hollow cone is filled with concrate. After the latter takes on the consistency of stone the shell can be withdrawn, leaving the solid concrete. It is claimed that this material is more durable than the wood, and is capable of carrying the necessary weight, and in all respects is superior to the old

Requests in such volume have been pouring in upon encampment headquarters for circulars and information bearing upon the details of the program for the encampment that it has been deemed wise to announce that the executive committee is delayed in this matter because General Torrance, the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has not been able to formulate all the plans and particular features of encampment week.

Beyond the fact that it is certain that the parade will occur on Wednesday of encampment week very little can be announced until definite information is received from the headquarters of the To Visit Capitol, Library, and Grand Army of the Republic. The executive committee expect to have this information in hand within the next week or ten days.

With the arrival of various delegates from the different States, and with their inquiries for headquarters and accommo dations in the wa" of halls, there comes the request for horses, and it is more than probable that a meeting of the horse and carriage committee will be called within the next week, so that some figure may be placed upon the who arrived in Washington from New mounts during the encamoment week. Col. Allison Nailor, who is the chairman of this committee, will spend the summer abroad, and the committee plans Vernon. The party returned about 6:30 in his absence will be under the direc-

George, T. A. Wickersham, F. A. Sebring, W. J. Ethell, F. A. Butts, A. C. Steinbrenner, and Mitchell Dyrenforth. Tomorrow they will visit the Capitol, The recommendations of this committee and the details of the contract with the Pain Company are awaited with great in-

The meetings scheduled for next week are as follows: On Monday, subcommittee of the Army of Tennessee, at headquarters, 1405 New York Avenue, at 7:30 p. m.; Tuesday, Seventh Army Corps, including all who served west of the Mississippi River, and the Twenty third Army Corps. Wednesday, the Sixth Army Corps, at 7:30, at headquarters, and Friday, the medical department, at 8 p. m.

Yesterday Chairman Weller, of the public comfort committee, was in receipt of several communications pertaining to the location of department head-quarters for the several States. A letter from the headquarters of the department commander of the State of Florida, at Maitland, stated that the commander and his staff would require ac-

In Mr. Dietz's judgment the conformatien of the ground about the Monument makes that site the most advantageous in all the United States for such a display. Cured by Healing Oils in the Lungs.

In the great war waged by the nations against the terrible scourge of tuber-culosis, the discovery and invention of the "Koch Tuberculine" by Prof. Robert Koch, of Berlin, Germany, has been the most important step.

The invention by Dr. Edward Koch of an apparatus by which the "Tubercu-line," combined with healing oils, can be vaporized and breathed directly into the lungs and air passages, has com-pleted the work of Prof. Koch. The medical world now frankly admits the virtue of this combined treatment. The Koch Lung Cure operates offices and sanatoriums in practically all the principal cities of this country. Thou-sands of cured patients in all walks of life have gratefully volunteered their testimonials that their fellow-sufferers may be benefited by their experience. The only Washington, D.
